

A control system for an internal combustion engine has a motor control apparatus (1) and a sensor unit with an interface (21) to the motor control apparatus. An evaluating unit (211) is integrated into the interface for digitalizing measurements of the sensor.

[illegible]